Patrolman Accused of Brutality and Drunkenness Offers Resignation

No. 190 Fourth street, South Boston, today, and with having attacked her mother, Mrs. Katherine O'Day, of the same address, Patrolman Patrick Butler tendered his resignation from the force to Captain Murphy, commanding Station Six.

"I begged him not to hit me, but he struck me in the stomach and side with his fist, I collapsed on the floor and the next I knew I was lying on my bed, terribly sick."

Thus did Mrs. Alice May Hellen, nineteen-year-old South Boston girl, describe today, the beginning of a brutal assault on her and her mother by Patrolman Butler.

According to Mrs. Hellen, she was sitting on the front steps of her home, when she saw Officer Butler come staggering along, swinging his club right and left and using disgusting language.

TELLS OF ASSAULT.

"When the officer reached our home," Mrs. Hellen said, "he started to strike me with his club."

Then he said, "I guess I will take a crack at you."

"With that he jumped at me and punched me in the breast. Still with pain I begged him not to do me again, but he brutally punched me in the side. I heard mother tell the officer to stop punching me, and then all was dark. I woke up screaming pain an hour or so later."

GREAT CIRCUS HERE IN ALL ITS GLORY

By ARON NEFF.

"It won't be long," I suppose, says "Fuddy Face" John, "before they'll be moving this circus into airplanes."

He rubbed a leather brown cheek reflectively, giving off a sound as one sand-papery a chair and gazed about the circus lot, where avoid-dipping trespassers drove in stokes to the music of band bells owners cursing lustily.

"Burtie," accidently, continued "Fuddy Face" John, "I don't see but what it won't be long."

RABY HIPPO A LIGHTWEIGHT

He passed fondly at Tiny Toddlers making bubbles in her portable tank.

"Just what does she weigh?" we asked, following the direction of John's gaze. Being advertised as an infant, we are curious as to Tiny's weight. Having a five month old son that tips the scales at eighteen pounds, not counting teeth, which haven't arrived.

CHAMBER CHIEF FAVORS STUDY OF 'L' FARES

The bills providing for an investigation of the least fare and of general transportation facilities in Greater Boston and for the extension of the Dorchester tunnel were today introduced by Chairman Robert Watson of the Boston Chamber of Commerce.

"The resolve providing for an investigation in the metropolitan district by the Department of Public Utilities aims at a definite solution of a question that has been before the Legislature for a number of years."

"But it provides that instead of there being a large number of bills on individual phases of the question and with essentially no relation to each other, there shall be co-ordinating legislation, prepared after a careful study, with these bills as a general background, but a body that is in an excellent position to conduct such a study."

The Dorchester bill would extend the tunnel to the Shawmut and Old Colony branches of the New Haven road, the tunnel tracks to run over these tracks to Wether Avenue, where they would connect with surface to Milton and Mattapan.

I. YOU have only $10 in the world and are playing poker with a man you have never seen before. On the first deal he holds a pat hand. You have three aces before the draw. There is 50 cents in the pot. He bets a quarter. What are you going to do, and why?

II. SUPPOSE a certain law form of animal brought forth a single offspring once an hour, and that the offspring reproduced at the same rate as the parent, starting as soon as it was one hour old, how long would it take to get four in the fourth generation, i. e., four great grandchildren of the parent?

III. YOU are a salesman making every effort to get an order from a big manufacturer who is married to an unusually jealous wife. One evening you see this prospective customer dining in a restaurant with a chorus girl. What would you do?

DRY AGENT HELD IN $3,000 IN SHOOTING

Federal Prohibition Agent Edward Hogan was arraigned in Municipal Court today, charged with murder in an assault with a revolver on Joseph Bequerra, during a fracas in the North End. Hogan is alleged to have been drunk at the time of the shooting.

Judge Burke held Hogan in $3,000 for a hearing June 24. Hogan was represented in court by Attorney Harold C. Barry, legal adviser for the local Federal Prohibition Enforcement office, who announced that the "full power and authority of the United States government will be used to see that Hogan gets a fair trial."

Mr. Barry also declared that during the last year twenty-two dry agents have been killed throughout the country while performing their duty.

Bequerra, who is nineteen years old and claims to live at No. 12 Hanover street, is at the Haymarket Relief Hospital. Physicians have succeeded in removing a revolver bullet from his intestine and announced that he may recover.

The affair was clouded by two conflicting stories. Hogan declares the shot in self-defense, while Bequerra asserts the shooting was unprovoked. A number of bystanders insist that the prohibition officer was drunk.

According to the story told by one man who claims to have witnessed the proceedings, Hogan had gone into a Battery street house occupied by a woman known as Mary. He tried to purchase liquor from her. It is said, and when she told him she had none he attempted undue familiarity, which she resented, declaring she would tell her husband. He then left and went to the sidewalk, where he is said to have become involved in an argument with Bequerra.

A half-gallon bottle of whiskey, only about half full, was found in Hogan's pocket when he was arrested. Police refuse to say whether or not he was intoxicated when they took him to the station.

CONTEST OF STATE'S RICHEST

Boston and Brookline society to day issued over reports from Marquette, Mich., that a bitter fight will be engaged in for the millions of the late John M. Longyear by two of his children said it have been cut off.

They are John M. Longyear, Jr., and Miss Alice True Roberts.

But married beneath the stations in life afforded by the Longyear millions. Did Longyear cut them off for that reason? This is the question society asks today.

If true, it seems strange as the upper man, reputed to have been the wealthiest man in Massachusetts, lived in democratic fashion and treated upon his five children being educated in a practical man as if necessarily arose they would be self-supporting.

Mr. Longyear died suddenly last month in his Fisher Hill mansion, which years ago he had moved since by stone from Marquette, Mich., when he objected to heavy taxation there upon his property. In one copper deal Mr. Longyear once made $24,000,000 on a lease of ore lands to the steel trust.

Now, according to reports from Marquette, where the will has been probated, the vast fortune is divided among his widow, Harry B. Longyear, two daughters, Miss Alice True Roberts and Miss Mary Lyeth of Chicago and Helen McDougall Longyear, wife of Lieutenant Carroll Paul, U. S. N., and Robert Dudley Longyear, youngest son, counsel at Port au Prince, Haiti.

If the children cut off, John M. Longyear, Jr., while a student at the Michigan College of Mines in Houghton conducted a student boarding house, the sister, the girl next door, she was the daughter of a humble electrician.

The daughter cut off is Mrs. Alice True Roberts. Mr. Roberts was a Harvard man, class of '04. He is now a successful man in the electrical business in Marquette. They have three children.

The presence of John M. Longyear, Jr., in Marquette possesses it is said, a contest over the will.

MARTINO LEADS ODD CONCERT

A most unusual and curious concert was given at the St. James Theatre yesterday by an Italian orchestra, conducted by Raffaele Martino, conductor of the Boston Italian Symphony. It consisted of a program of eighteenth century and earlier music performed in as much the manner of the eighteenth century as it was possible to achieve. The musicians wore the costumes of 200 years ago and they carried the things so far as to play by candlelight instead of electric light.

The program consisted of musical works rarely or never heard nowadays. One of these was Zinfisch from the opera of "Burlinda," by Jacob Peri, dating from the sixteenth century. The composers featured included Costi, Dall'Abaco and Childers. Ella Kohler, who appears with this orchestra at the recent concert in Symphony Hall, was the soloist yesterday and sang very sweetly.

When "Pa" and "Ma" were new to a Waldorf

THE elderly couple had gotten as far as the cashier's desk in one of the Waldorfs. They stood looking around in an embarrassed way. The manager, quick to note their strangeness, was soon at their side. He heard "Ma" say, "I guess, Pa, this place is for men."

The alert manager assured them otherwise, and escorted them to the counter-man who quickly fell in with the spirit of the situation. The manager left "Pa" and "Ma" at a table, smiling happily.

The Waldorf is proud of such men as that manager. We can wish for nothing better than that every man in our employ will always be quick to render any and every little attention, and so help to make your visits to a Waldorf satisfactory in every way. For we all feel that courteous service is your right when you enter a Waldorf.

WARD BROTHER MUST SHOW CHECKS

New York, June 12.—The Westchester county grand jury tomorrow will again take up the investigation of the murder of Clarence Peters of Haverhill, Mass., by Walter R. Ward.

Electric Attorney Weeks, who is presenting the facts to the grand jury, said that he proposed to ask for an indictment of murder in the first degree against the self-confessed slayer, if the evidence warrants.

25 WITNESSES CALLED.

The American learned that about twenty-five witnesses are under subpoena to testify. The most important testimony is expected from Ralph Ward, brother of the confessed slayer, who is relied upon to tell much of the alleged black-mail story in which his brother was concerned that led to the killing of Peters.

He will be called upon to produce his bank books and cancelled checks. The authorities are anxious to get these to ascertain the truth of the widely circulated story that Walter borrowed large sums from Ralph to meet the demands of the blackmailers and made frantic efforts to get further loans on the eve of the murder of Peters.

In addition to Ralph Ward, Mrs. Henry Curtis Ward, wife of the slayer, and her mother, Mrs. Anne Willard Curtis, are under subpoena to appear before the grand jury.

Another witness concerning whose testimony there is much speculation is Mrs. "Pip" Zeiler, a former governess in the New Rochelle home of Ward. The woman has been sought by the authorities for a week and was finally located in St. James, L. I.

HAD DEALINGS WITH WARD.

A new figure was brought into the case in the person of Elwood Jeffner, a man involved in racing, who was arrested at New Rochelle. Jeffner was grilled for several hours by Sheriff Werner after documents were found in his pockets indicating some connection with Ward. He failed to give a satisfactory account of himself and was served with a subpoena to appear before the inquirers tomorrow.

MUSIC-LOVING SEAMAN FOULS LAND LAWS

Take it from "Pat" Lannigan, able seaman on the steamship Myrmec, a seafaring man who falls foul of the law sharks is out of luck.

Owing to his ignorance of landmen's law and the desire to have a bit of good time, Lannigan nearly lost his ship, which sailed from Charlestown today at 12:30 p. m.

Lannigan told Judge Dowd he hailed from Glasgow, but having been a seafaring man for thirty years or more, he has no real shore home. The Myrmec, bound for the West Indies, was docked at Charlestown taking on cargo.

Lannigan grew homesick and, placing an accordion under one arm, strolled ashore to see the city and marvel at landmen's ways.

On Cambridge street he became seized with a desire for music. Assuming a lilt on the tip of the tongue, Lannigan began to sing an old-time ditty, whistling out an accompaniment with his accordion.

Drawn by the sound of the Myrmec's music, a crowd gathered, and, discovering a suspicious fellow on one of Lannigan's hips, searched him. They found an unloaded revolver.

In court the seaman told Judge Dowd he had purchased the revolver to shoot sharks and did not know that the law prohibited carrying them ashore. He informed the court that his ship sailed at 12:30 and as it was then 12:55, Judge Dowd gave him a short reprieve and placed him on probation.

The last seen of the seafaring man was walking out of the court house, hat in hand, madly shouting for a taxiab.

London, June 12.—(By the Associated Press.)—The facts thus far brought to light in the case of Major Ronald True, convicted slayer of Gertrude Tins, have failed to show any means for the widely published reports that he is the son of a titled man. His birth certificate, as published by the Sunday Express, given his mother's name as Annabel True, formerly Aspin, whom he married after his father's death. His father is described in the certificate as a "journalist artist."

SALVATORE VALERA WILL ABANDON REPUBLIC

London, June 12.—(By the Associated Press.)—The Italian Fascist leader, announced in the House of Commons this afternoon that it would be more convenient, and in the general public interest, if he deferred his statement on Ireland, which it had been expected he would deliver today, until tomorrow or possibly Thursday.

Dublin, June 12.—(By the Associated Press.)—This week will be one of speaking in southern Ireland, preparatory to the parliamentary elections Friday. Many meetings were held yesterday, including one at Cork, where Eamon De Valera opened the campaign on behalf of the Sinn Féin panel of candidates.

If the panel candidates, agreed upon between the factions represented by Mr. De Valera and Michael Collins, were rejected, the speaker said, England would say that Ireland's present representatives did not truly represent the country. Therefore, it was necessary to re-elect those who during the last four or five years had brought the Irish people along the straight road toward freedom and progress.

The question as to the success of the panel candidates was not discussed, and it is recognized that the return of even a dozen of the would-be members of the new parliament.

As there were recently rumors that Collins was abandoning the treaty and throwing himself on the mercy of the British, De Valera and his supporters contemplate abandoning their stand.

De Valera, who, so they are a republic.

Even those who do not criticize the report, however, say such a change could not occur at the present stage or before it is seen how the new constitution will be received in Ireland.

Agree on Amended Irish Constitution

LONDON, June 12.—(By the Associated Press.)—The striking of a new Irish constitution have been revised "satisfactorily," the Evening Star asserts today, that Arthur Griffith will return to Dublin with them tonight.

It adds that Colonial Secretary Churchill has accepted his statement in the House of Commons until tomorrow, so that announcement of the agreement will be made simultaneously in London and in Dublin.

The whole six points raised by the British ministers to the Anglo-Irish treaty in connection with the Irish constitution have been adjusted, the newspaper declares, and the problem of the immediate future is a matter between Michael Collins and Eamon de Valera.

The adjustment, the newspaper adds, is believed to be largely due to the fact that the British minister, Lord Curzon, has been in the negotiations here.

Wanted Liquor and Now He Wants $350 in Cash

Lawrence, June 12.—Michael Masallan loves his liquor.

So much so, say the police, that when Lieutenant Dwyer and a raiding squad seized three and a half quarts of hooch and four quarts of alcohol he offered the police $100 to let him go and keep the liquor.

Judge Mahoney today fined Masallan, who lives on Broadway, $150 for having the hooch and $200 for trying to bribe the officers.

Masallan now mourns his liquor and also $350 cash.

WEST ROXBURY PROTESTS 27TH CEMETERY

A public hearing will be granted Thursday morning in the office of Mayor Curley to citizens of West Roxbury, who protest against the granting of a permit to the Mount Lebanon Cemetery Association to establish a burying ground in West Roxbury.

This permission was granted by the City Council on June 8, and according to President William J. Dwyer of the West Roxbury Citizens' Association, the protests of that organization were unheeded.

Residents of West Roxbury say that action now has more than fifty

They further state that the last buried on their tract containing the Mount Lebanon Rock from which John East prepared to the Indian in 1830 years ago. This rock and the surrounding landscape are described in Hawthorne's "The Blithedale Romance."

PROPOSAL TO ERECT ISLAND IN THE CHARLES RIVER BASIN AS MEMORIAL TO WAR HEROES GETS A BROADSIDE FROM THE PUBLIC!
The four acre island, as suggested in connection with the building of a new Harvard bridge, is assailed as ridiculous and unsanitary. Women call it "awful and hideous." The Rev. Sidney Lovett, pastor of the Mt. Vernon Congregational Church on Beacon Street, points out that the island would have a tendency to intercept sewage as its way to the harbor. Robert Payne Bigelow, librarian at Tech, declares that it would be a mistake to dispoil the Basin and its beautiful broad view. As for near-by residents—they are solidly against anything that will spoil their view. But there's another side to the story—persons of good judgment and civic leaders say it would be an appropriate memorial.
